Elections Contested In A & S

Four Uncontested
Posts To Be Filled Soon

Students in the Faculty of Arts and Science went to the polls yesterday to elect class officers for their Undergraduate Society. While voting was light, it was in most cases very close. Positions being contested were those of President, Vice-President, Secretary, and Treasurer of each year.

In an interview with The Daily last night, the President of the Society, Dick Tremaine, said: "I would like to congratulate the successful candidates, and I wish them the best of luck in their new posts."

All officers for first year positions were placed by acclamation. Polling booths, which were placed in the Men's Common Room and the Women's Common Room in the Arts building, and in Royal Victoria College for resident women students, were open between 9 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Identification
Each Arts and Science Undergraduate was required, before voting, to present his or her membership card; if for any reason they did not receive such a card at time of registration, they were given the opportunity to procure one at time of voting. As a means of identification, each student presented his library card.

Dick Tremaine stated before the election that those who became officers would be encouraged by the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society to organize various social events during the year.

The following is a list of the candidates and the votes received: those offices having no adjoining names will be filled by the Arts and Science Undergraduate Society Executive at a later date:

First Year
President: Doug Campbell; Vice-President: Jean Van Patter; Secretary: Eve Marler; Treasurer: Murray Magor.

Second Year
President: uncontested; Vice-President: Joan Bayer, 38; Nancy Wilson, 22; Secretary: Babs Williamson (acclamation); Treasurer: uncontested.

Third Year
President: Doug Riddle, 76; Frasier Vipond, 54; Vice-President: Barbara Brown, 62; Joan Radley, 61; Secretary: Elizabeth Atkinson, 63; Louise Ferrier, 61; Treasurer: uncontested.

Fourth Year
President: Bob McKay, 88; Nat Wolfe, 27; Vice-President: P. J. Ross (acclamation); Secretary: uncontested; Treasurer: uncontested.

I.R.C. Elects Andre Forget As President

Andre Forget, Law II, was chosen club president for the coming year at yesterday's organizational meeting of the McGill International Relations Club. Other executive members elected were: Pat Black, Pierre Benoit, Francine Welter, Michael Sakellariopoulos, Marilyn Richardson, Peter Baxter and Bob Olson.

Following a resume of last year's activities by outgoing president Ted Blockley, Forget made a report on the international affairs conference at Quebec City to which the IRC sent two delegates. The advantages of the club's present affiliations with other international bodies were stressed and it was announced that fifteen memberships in the Canadian Institute of International Affairs have been extended to McGill students through the IRC.

The new executive will meet Monday, Nov. 10, at 1 p.m. in the Union to discuss immediate plans.

Bongo, Bongo—We're Lookin' for a Combo!

Dr. Wm. Lyons Attacks Public School Training

Even a small amount of authoritarianism is dangerous to our society and the danger increases in proportion to the part played by the authoritarianism. This point was stressed by Dr. William Lyons in Moyses Hall last night, in the third talk of the series "Lectures on Living," presented under the auspices of the National Committee of Social Hygiene.

Speaking on the topic of Anxiety and Guilt in the Modern Community, Dr. Lyons laid blame upon the public school for its treatment of children from seven to thirteen. Through fixed and arbitrary rules, the teaching of abstract school subjects and isolation of the pupil because of failure to keep up to standard, the school was leading the child to believe that success was achieved only by becoming boss, Dr. Lyons explained.

Exams Count Most
Quoting examples of this authoritarianism, Dr. Lyons pointed out that in learning to read, the child is encouraged to improve his speech and fluency rather than to gain greater freedom of expression or communication with his society. Competition in school should be based on social goodness, he said, but the school indicates improvement through academic reports.

Since the industrial revolution, said Dr. Lyons, society has passed the stage of the capitalist boss and is now changing to a system which is equally restricted and authoritarian without making use of experience gained.

The capitalist boss has given way to a highly literate middle class which is confusing leadership with control, he continued. This is apparent in the great degree of social unrest in industry during periods of expansion when too great a premium is placed on acceptance and acceptability of authority.

Plumbers Plan Cement Plant Trip Saturday

For their third field trip of the year, the Civil Engineering Society will visit the Canada Cement Company plant in Montreal East on Saturday morning. The trip is designed to give third year students an introduction into the manufacture and processing of cement.

The students will be divided into groups of twelve to fifteen, and will be shown through the plant by the local foremen. The complete production, from the actual mining to the packaging of the finished cement, will be seen. Free transportation has been arranged by Professor G. J. Dodd and the company officials. The buses are scheduled to leave the Engineering Building at 9:00 o'clock sharp, and to return by twelve-thirty at the latest. Unfortunately due to space limitations, only third and fourth year civil engineering students will be able to make the trip by bus.

The other two trips of this year have been a visit to the McTavish reservoir by the fourth year group, and a combined tour of the Dominion Bridge Plant in Lachine.

FEATURED in the Red and White Revue of 1947 were the Jazz Combo, including Bill Russell at the piano and Stash Stanway on trumpet—both of whom were students at McGill. The executive of this year's Revue is issuing a call for musicians for the show. Gerry O'Brien, the Producer, has stated that he would like to get in touch with all undergraduates who are interested in playing for the Red and White Revue of 1948.

Placard Parade

McGill Students Picket Pier As Ship Loads Arms, Ammo.

A group of McGill students led by Vince Goring of the Students Christian Movement and Norm Nerenberg of the Federation of Labour Youth paraded onto Pier 7 of Montreal Harbour last night bearing placards which had previously been prepared and brought to the pier. The picketers gained entrance through efforts of Nerenberg and were able to reach the ship's side before being ordered off the pier by Harbor Police. They were ousted on the grounds that their entrance had been highly illegal.

China's "Dictator"
In a report to the press, Vince Goring explained that he believed any action to support a war should be made through the United Nations. He claimed that through various sources he had learned that the regime of Chiang Kai-shek was a dictatorship and completely corrupt. He said his beliefs were substantiated by the Rev. James Endicott of Toronto, a missionary recently returned from China. The Rev. Endicott is scheduled to speak at McGill tomorrow at 5 p.m., Goring said.

Story of Jazz Is Reviewed By New Club

A review of jazz development from its inception to modern 52nd St. styles was featured at last night's meeting of the Hot Jazz Society in the Union Ballroom. About 30 people turned out to hear the record session which lasted for two hours.

Grant Roberts spun the platters and handled the commentary. Starting with the early New Orleans styles, as exemplified by Bunk Johnson and Kid Ory, the program continued through the later Chicago jazz by way of a few blues selections by Bessie Smith and several boogie-woogie items by Pine Top Smith and Albert Ammons.

The Chicago period was highlighted by Red Nichols and Bix Beiderbeck's rendition of the Royal Garden Blues. Getting into the mood of modern Dixieland, Art Hodes and Muggsy Spanier came in for considerable attention, and a few "be-bops" selections by Lester Young and Coleman Hawkins, among others, ended the program.

It was decided that at the next meeting, two weeks hence, recordings of Louis Armstrong and Coleman Hawkins would be featured.

Tickets Now on Sale For Trip to Kingston

Transportation arrangements have been made by the Red and White Society for all students wishing to attend the McGill-Queen's football game at Kingston, on November 15. Tickets will be on sale at the Union Tuck Shop on the following dates: Thursday and Friday (Nov. 6 and 7) and Monday and Tuesday (Nov. 10 and 11). The return fare is $6.00; the game tickets, $1.50 and $2.00. The train is to leave Central Station at 9:15 a.m. on November 15. The return trip may be made any time the ticket holder wishes.

A.C.S. Tickets Remain on Sale Patrons Named

Tickets for the A. C. S. Ball are still available in the Union it was announced last night by Dick Tremaine and Jack Shannon, co-chairmen of the event. They are priced at $5.00 per couple and can be obtained between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. Dawson students may procure their tickets from Mr. Hilliard, Secretary-Treasurer of the Dawson Student Council. Reservations for tables will be arranged on Monday, Nov. 10.

It is emphasized that the sale is open to all students on the campus as present plans call for the A.C.S. to become the biggest event of the fall season. Second in appeal only to the Winter Carnival.

Music for dancing will be supplied by Art Hallman, formerly nationally known vocalist with Mart Kenny and his orchestra. Art himself and Terry Dale will do the vocalizing in the style which has made the band one of the most popular in the newer crop.

Decorations will be centered on the dance floor, featuring a false ceiling in blue and white, a new and bigger band-shell, and a kaleidoscope effect from a group of new reflectors. Conception and execution of this motif has been entrusted to David Clarke, and assistants Helen Ayer, Bill Creighton, Barbara Hodson, Carlton Goddard and Faye Rodriguez.

Supper at Midnight
Supper will be served at midnight. Barbara Watson, in charge of catering, has announced that the famous Parisian cuisine of Pegorini will service the event. Table reservations, under the supervision of Betty Brewer and Jack Ronson, can be obtained in the McGill Union, Monday, Nov. 10. Couples will be seated in groups of eight, and may choose their locations on the chart of the Gym.

Students to Issue Reports on Profs

A novel twist has been instituted in the old report card system at University of Michigan—the professors will receive the report cards.

Students in literature will fill out these cards on their instructors at the end of each term as part of a plan for faculty evaluation. Professors must be rated on clarity of assignments, ability to lecture effectively, presentation of subject matter, and willingness to help students after class.

There is one difference: the students will remain anonymous—for a very obvious reason.

B.Com. Nominations

Due to a lack of response from the last notice, the Commerce Undergraduate Society wishes to announce that nominations for class officers will be accepted during the remainder of this week and the beginning of next. It is important that the students respond to this call for a president, vice-president, and secretary for all years of Commerce so that elections can be held at the end of next week. Please leave all nominations at the Union Tuck Shop and watch The Daily for further notices.

First General Meeting Of Local NFCUS Group In Union Today At 5 p.m.

Call for Nominations In Veterans' Society

Nominations for all the positions on the executive of the Vets' Society for the ensuing year should be left with George at the Union Tuckshop on or before Friday, November 7th, it was announced last night. They must be signed by twenty-five people. The positions open are: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, housing director and publicity director.

Thursday, November 13, is the date on which voting will take place; details of the location of polling booths will be published later. Programs and statements of the candidates should be prepared and ready for publication in next Wednesday morning's Daily. The daily deadline for handing in of platforms is 5 p.m., Monday, Nov. 10.

The executive are now preparing a separate question to be placed before the members at that time dealing with the number required to form a quorum. This, they hope, will resolve the difficulty which has existed since the constitution was first drafted three years ago.

Play By Synge Players' First Effort of Year

"Riders to the Sea," a one-act tragedy by J. M. Synge, will be the first production of the Players' Club this season. This play, to which no admission will be charged, is to be presented in the Union Ballroom on Monday, November 24th.

Synge's play has been rated by more than one celebrated critic as the greatest tragedy since Shakespeare, in respect to the treatment of deep yet controlled emotion. The scene is set on an island off the northwest coast of Ireland, and the entire action takes place within a fisherman's hut. The play, which depends more upon atmosphere than plot for its fine effect, is based on the influence of the sea upon the lives of simple fishing-folk.

Rehearsals have already started under the direction of Alan Portigal. Pauline Ramsey is cast as the mother, Maurya, the play's most interesting character. She changes from a mood of active rebellion against life to one of passive resignation. Her daughters, Cathleen, hard and bitter, and Nora, young and inquisitive, are being played by Patricia Orange and Marjorie Baker. Her son Bartley, whose death provides the main action of the play, is played by George Kent.

This production is only one of the many activities which the Players' Club is undertaking this season. A play reading and writing group is now being organized, and will begin to function by the end of the week.

The cast for the Club's main production, "George and Margaret," to be presented in December, will be announced shortly.

La Societe Francaise To Meet Today 5 p.m.

All students interested in the post-war trends in France and in contemporary French culture are invited to this year's first meeting of the Societe Francaise, to be held tonight at 5 p.m. in the Common Room of R.V.C.

Besides the outlining of the aims and programme of the Societe, the meeting will have on its agenda the election of two members to executive posts, and the presentation of the executive to new members.

Whether this year's activities will be successful may well hinge on the turn out this evening at five, and students in all years who are interested should make a special effort to attend. Command of spoken French is not considered essential, and there are no membership fees. As was the custom last year, refreshments will be served after the meeting this evening.

Open To All Students To Discuss Scholarships, Services, Foreign Bonds

The McGill Committee of the National Federation of Canadian University Students will meet today at 5 p.m. in the New Room of the McGill Union. This, the first general meeting of the year, will feature plans which will be made for the forthcoming N.F.C.U.S. Christmas conference. All students have been invited to attend the gathering.

The following terms will be discussed:

(1) Formation of a committee to discuss Scholarships, International Affiliations, and Student Services. Much excellent work has been done in the past in the field of scholarships, and the committee hopes to carry on this work as well as broaden the field by offering more scholarships to more people.

Although N.F.C.U.S. is now a country-wide organization, plans are being made to make contacts with various international student bodies. In this way, the executive will gain valuable hints from student organizations in other countries, and will in turn be able to pass information along to them.

On the McGill campus, plans are being made to bring the various student services together to further increase their efficiency.

(2) Organization of a N.F.C.U.S. Council to integrate the activities of campus organizations. At present, there is no convenient means for our campus clubs and organizations to meet together and talk over common problems. The proposed N.F.C.U.S. Council will hold regular meetings at which all aspects of student activities can be discussed by the clubs concerned.

(3) Organization of an Inter-university Student Forum in which the universities and colleges in the Montreal region would participate. At this forum, students from McGill, University of Montreal, MacDonald, Sir George Williams, and Loyola would discuss international affairs and politics. The meetings would be for discussion only.

Duggan House Descends The Hill As James Returns To Old McGill

By PEGGY BENJAMIN
(Daily Staff Writer)

Perhaps May is the conventional month for moving, but the members of McGill's administrative staff are not going to let that hinder their plans to start moving back into the renovated East Wing of the Arts Building on November 8th.

The building is not finished, but work on it has reached the point where the top floor—that is, the fourth floor—can and will be occupied by the Department of Extension Courses on the day after tomorrow. This floor was formerly the home of the Law Faculty.

Floor by Floor
The process of moving from Duggan House into the East Wing will take place floor by floor, from the top down; a few days after occupation of the fourth floor, the entire accounting staff, including cashiers and offices for the payment of fees, will move onto the third floor. Then, toward the middle of the month, the second floor will again function in its old role of headquarters for Principal James, for Mr. Dobell, the Comptroller and Executive Assistant to the Principal, and for Mr. Bentley, the Registrar. Around the same time, the Registrar, Mr. Matthews, and his entire staff, will come back into their former position in the ground floor.

Both the top and second floors will be directly connected with the main part of the Arts Building. This is an innovation in that until now the only connection was between the second floor and the main building. Another innovation is the proposed classroom on the top floor; this classroom, which will hold 200 students, has not as yet been assigned to any particular courses.

Moving Procedure
The process of changing the location of the Administrative Staff is no small feat, since it entails the moving of from 75 to 100 people with all their office equipment. Every piece of furniture must be marked with the number of the office for which it is intended, loaded into a carrier, and delivered to its new office in the East Wing.

At present, the varying degrees of cleanliness of the Wing floors serve to indicate the order in which they will be ready for occupants. The top floor is resplendent with fluorescent lights, built-in steam radiators and clean, light walls, while on the other floors, although these improvements are also installed, the litter of construction work grows more noticeable until, on the second and ground floors, it is necessary to walk carefully to avoid tripping over boards and wires. In the west wall there is a brick lined space which will one day be an elevator shaft.

The Purchasing Department of the University will not move back into the Wing, but will continue to be located in the School of Architecture, 3480 University Street.

PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

(In view of the fact that McGill's committee of the National Federation of Canadian University Students is holding their first general meeting of the session today, The Daily is reprinting the following article. (This article appeared in The Varsity, Toronto's student daily newspaper, and gives a general view of N.F.C.U.S. activities.)

N.F.C.U.S. (pronounced Nifeus) are the initials of the National Federation of Canadian University Students. That is a big sounding title but it stands for a very big thing. The National Federation is the one national organization which can speak with authority as the voice of Canadian University students. It is the one body made up of the students of 18 universities from Nova Scotia to British Columbia. Your delegates on your committees are the students who are working on student affairs on the national and international levels; who are working to draw the Canadian camps closer together by the interchange of ideas, planning and co-operation.

You may well ask, has this great federation accomplished anything? The answer is Yes — definitely yes. The reduced rates for students travelling the railways to college in the fall and spring and at Christmas are the results of the Federation's work. The athletic associations of all colleges, especially the smaller ones, thank the Federation for the very marked reduction they get in the price of sports equipment.

Next year some of you may wish to take one or two of your undergraduate years at some other university in Canada. If you do you will be glad to know that there is a system of exchange scholarships set up to help you do so. Before the war, over 500 students yearly have been known to avail themselves of these opportunities. This service begun by Nifeus, became a casualty during the war; however, the Federation is now working on its restoration and expansion.

These are a few of the activities of the Federation on the national scale. Last year all the Nifeus committees on the various camps discussed fully the question of whether the Canadian undergraduates should ally themselves with the undergraduates from the other universities throughout the world. That is to say — Would we join the International Union of Students (I.U.S.)? This question has not been formally answered.

The results of all our discussions will be placed before the delegates at our national convention this winter. Your committee, at Varsity, after discussing the I.U.S. constitution, made the general recommendation that the Federation should seek affiliation with the I.U.S. This was subject to certain recommended changes in the I.U.S. constitution.

As students, we want to take our part in the national and international life of our times. Nifeus is one way in which we can make our voice heard. It is through your interest and support of the National Federation of Canadian University Students that the voice heard will be a strong and intelligent one.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Plea for Books

Sir,
Using your columns, I would like to raise a pertinent question re the buying of text books and other assigned reading material; I believe most of the students are cognizant of this perennial problem. The sixty-four dollar question is this: "Is there any reason why this university cannot own and operate its own books and stationery department?"

I am sure the benefits that would accrue would certainly outweigh any difficulties that might arise. Of course, to make this proposal materialize requires the initiative of the "boys upstairs."

Yours respectfully,
JAS. F. MILLER,
B.A. 4

To Be or Not to Be

Dear Mr. Editor:
A certain Mr. Muskatov spent a sum of money to print leaflets to prove that he was not a communist. Besides wanting to prove that he was not a communist, he endeavored to prove that he is anti-communist. Well as a result of the Dawson elections he emerged as president of the Dawson Students' Society.

Perhaps if he had given that money to the Welfare Federation, he would have also been elected to his present position. But I guess that if he would have done this humane service he would have been called a communist.

SKEPTIC.

Thanks, etc.

Dear Sir,—I wish to express my sincere thanks to all those students who voted for me, and I certainly hope that the support given me in this election will be continued throughout the present session, not only by those who elected me, but by all students in Arts and Science at Dawson.

I would also like to offer my sincere congratulations to those who were elected to the other various posts, pledging them my sincere and earnest support and co-operation for the benefit of the students at Dawson.

Sincerely Yours,
Paul Cullen,
President Arts and Science.

Dear Sir,—I wish to take this opportunity to thank all my fellow students who nominated and voted for me for the vice-presidency of Arts and Science, and especially those who gave their time and energy in assisting my campaign. Although unable to fulfill the wishes of those who indicated their faith in my leadership, nevertheless it was encouraging to receive their support.

The voting was indicative of the split in opinion.
Your unsuccessful candidate,
Bolton B. Nyeste.

Congratulations

The Editor,
McGill Daily.
Dear Sir:

May I use the medium of the Daily to convey my sincerest congratulations to Mary Stephens on her election to the presidency of the Women's Union. Her consideration for my position during the past few days was very much appreciated. Now I am very glad to assure her that she will have my staunchest support—and I think in this for my supporters as well—in carrying out the heavy duties of her office.

That the vote was heavy and that the majority was decisive in satisfying to us both, and is proof that the Women's Union Executive decision to call a new election was well taken.

Very Sincerely Yours,
Ann Warren Ryan.

Norway and MRA

The Editor,
McGill Daily. Oct. 31, 1947.
Dear Sir:

We are a group of Norwegians visiting Canada, some of us students from the University of Oslo. We appreciated visiting your great university today and meeting with your principal some of your professors and students.

In reading a copy of your daily newspaper, we were very disturbed to see such an irrelevant attack against Moral Re-Armament. Four of us took an active part in the resistance movement of Norway and we saw the people of Moral Re-Armament fighting side by side with us. We have seen them give inspiration and hope for thousands in the German concentration camps. Many gave their lives. The Nazi picked out the Oxford Group for special attack.

Those who were fighting then are now giving inspired leadership to their country.

Sincerely: Jens J. Wilhelmssen,

Axel Harem, Chris Borchrevinch, Victor Smith, Einar Engebretsen, Knut Alsten, Waldemar Smith.

Quorum Conclusions

The Editor,
McGill Daily.
Dear Sir,

We wish to commend Mr. Sirota for pointing out in Friday's Daily that the constitution of the Student Society can only be amended to allow for a quorum of 300 students if 500 students are there to approve this amendment. Going a step further, if 500 students will turn out to approve this amendment, then it is obvious that 500 students can be counted on to turn out for other major issues. The conclusion: there is no purpose in reducing the quorum.

Three hundred students are hardly representative of student opinion as a whole. In the latest issue concerning the question of cheerleaders, of over 8,000 students only 300-odd turned up; and though the vast majority of these were in favour of employing cheerleaders, it would seem that the general student opinion was "We don't care," and that this opinion was carried by 7,700 to 300. How feeble the Senate must have considered a note stating that 300 students out of 8,000 would like to have cheerleaders please.

If we reduce our quorum to 300, we are admitting either that the issues discussed at the meetings are not worth discussing, or that very little effort has been made to get the student body interested in the activities of the Student Society. In either case, reducing the quorum to 300 solves nothing. It is merely a way out.

In addition, a small quorum would pave the way for last-minute pressure groups to bias the issue. If an item on the agenda cannot attract more than 300 students, it is a clear sign that the majority of students consider it inconsequential, and as such does not warrant discussion.

Yours truly,
J. C. Allard, Comm. III.
M. D. Beech, Comm. III.

(Ed. Note: The Daily wishes to apologize to Miss Ryan for delaying the printing of her letter. Although it was sent down to our publishers on Monday night, it was not printed previously due to a misunderstanding on the part of the publishers.)

Lowest Form

By common consent, the pun, in this day and age, seems generally to be regarded as "the lowest form of humour." I hope however, that there are those who will agree with me that this attitude bears some revision. The pun is probably the most culturally advanced of all forms of humour, though probably the most impermanent and least communicable. It depends for its effect on language and current usage, and will lose its meaning as the language changes.

The pun is the harmless sentence with a leer. It is the obvious, straight-forward verb that suddenly blows up in your face. The dictionary states that a pun is "a play of words of the same sound but different meanings, or on different meanings of the same word to produce an odd or ludicrous effect." Actually there are various forms: the classical pun which reduces an intelligible sentence to absurdity in a twist of the noun; the double entendre of insidious intent; the conundrum, which is in hysterical disfavour with our forefathers. (Why is an editor like a wet fish?)

The present disparaging attitude did not always exist. Shakespeare ladled them out plentifully, and while his manner of usage did not necessarily indicate approval, there is no doubt that they were in general favour. Scholarly individuals have informed me that they appear in Greek comedy. A milestone in the scientific study of paronomasia was laid as late as the middle of the last century with the discovery by Oliver Wendell Holmes that "there is no such thing as a woman punster."

The Master

All that I have said thus far is preamble to my poor tribute to the memory of that master punster, Thomas Hood. Though preserved in anthologies as a lesser Romantic poet (Fair Ines, The Bridge of Sighs) Hood is best known as the man who systematically and thoroughly worked the pun to death. Take, for instance, the epic entitled, Faithless Nelly Gray, a Pa-theistic Ballad:

Ben Battle was a soldier bold,
And used to war's alarms;
But a cannon-ball took off his legs,
So he laid down his arms.

Poor Ben is invalided home, and calls on his fiancée, Nell. She rebuffs him saying: "And now you cannot wear your shoes upon your feet of arms." Ben denounces her in heroic measure:

O Nelly Gray! O Nelly Gray!
Is this your love so warm?
The love that loves a scarlet coat
Should be more uniform!

Ben finally commits suicide and after a dozen men sit on his corpse he is buried at the crossroads with a stake in his inside. Another Ben is captured by a press gang and after some years at sea he too returns to find that his sweetheart has proven faithless. Here there is an equally appropriate denunciation:

O Sally Brown, O Sally Brown,
How could you serve me so?
I've met with many a breeze before,
But never such a blow:

Then reading on his 'bacco box
He heaved a bitter sigh,
And then began to eye his pipe,
And then to pipe his eye.

Suicide is the fate of this poor chap as well, and the poem concludes with what is perhaps the most famous of punning quatrains:

His death, which happen'd in his birth,
At forty-odd befel:
They went and told the sexton,
and
The sexton toll'd the bell.

Time and Tide

DOM HUMUS AD HOMINUS

There was a mountain, once upon a time, upon a people. There was upon that mountain a cross, upon that people, Yea, and mightily they strove to bear it, with their unworthiness.

This cross was a steelwork structure as was appropriate to the Age of Mettle; energy from the waters pouring out to sea around the island, upon which were the people, upon the mountain, upon the cross, did cause it to shine forth, a beacon (Continued on page 4.)

Organ Recital

The next organ recital to be presented by the Casavant Society will be given on Tuesday, Nov. 11th, by the Canadian organist, Jean Marie Bussieres, organist of the St-Sacrement Church in Quebec City. Mr. Bussieres is well-known all over Canada since he is giving organ recitals over the National network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Last year, Mr. Bussieres gave a recital in Quebec City and all the local critics agreed in proclaiming him as a consummate artist and an exceptionally good player.

This distinguished organist will give a recital in Notre Dame Church, on November 11th, under the auspices of the Casavant Society. His program will include works by Bach, Clerambault, Balbastre, Couperin, Widor, Franck, Vierne, Langlais and Marcel Dupre. The Little Singers of Granby will offer a group of religious songs and motets at the same program.

MAYHEM

After Dark

by Bill Adams

When night-clubbing in Montreal it is recommended you bring your own club, cafe owners furnish them to waiters only. No facetiously irrelevant advice this, for rarely a night passes that some broken student body does not do likewise. In one of Montreal's daily newspapers last week you may have seen the picture of two students after a visit to a Drummond St. Seraglio. One looked like a blood-donor's bank, holiday so completely was his face and shirt covered with what we presume to be his own ketchup. The other student appeared superficially undamaged until his maniacal expression and taut smile drawn across his broken fangs revealed a victim of crumbling cerebellum and cranium crack-up. The tabloids welcome this sort of thing — TWO STUDENTS NIGHT CLUBBING, ONE LOSES HEAD.

No sooner had the tumult and shouting died than another incident occurred, this time on Victoria Avenue within screaming distance of the campus. Last Saturday the boys from IYE PHELTAT TH were celebrating McGill's football defeat in a most fraternal fashion. The student most broken up over the whole thing is a personal friend, we knew him when he was beating up women in English dance halls during the War. However we shall try to hide him under a pseudonym because this is the sadist story ever told, concerning as it does the intimate relations of two sadists.

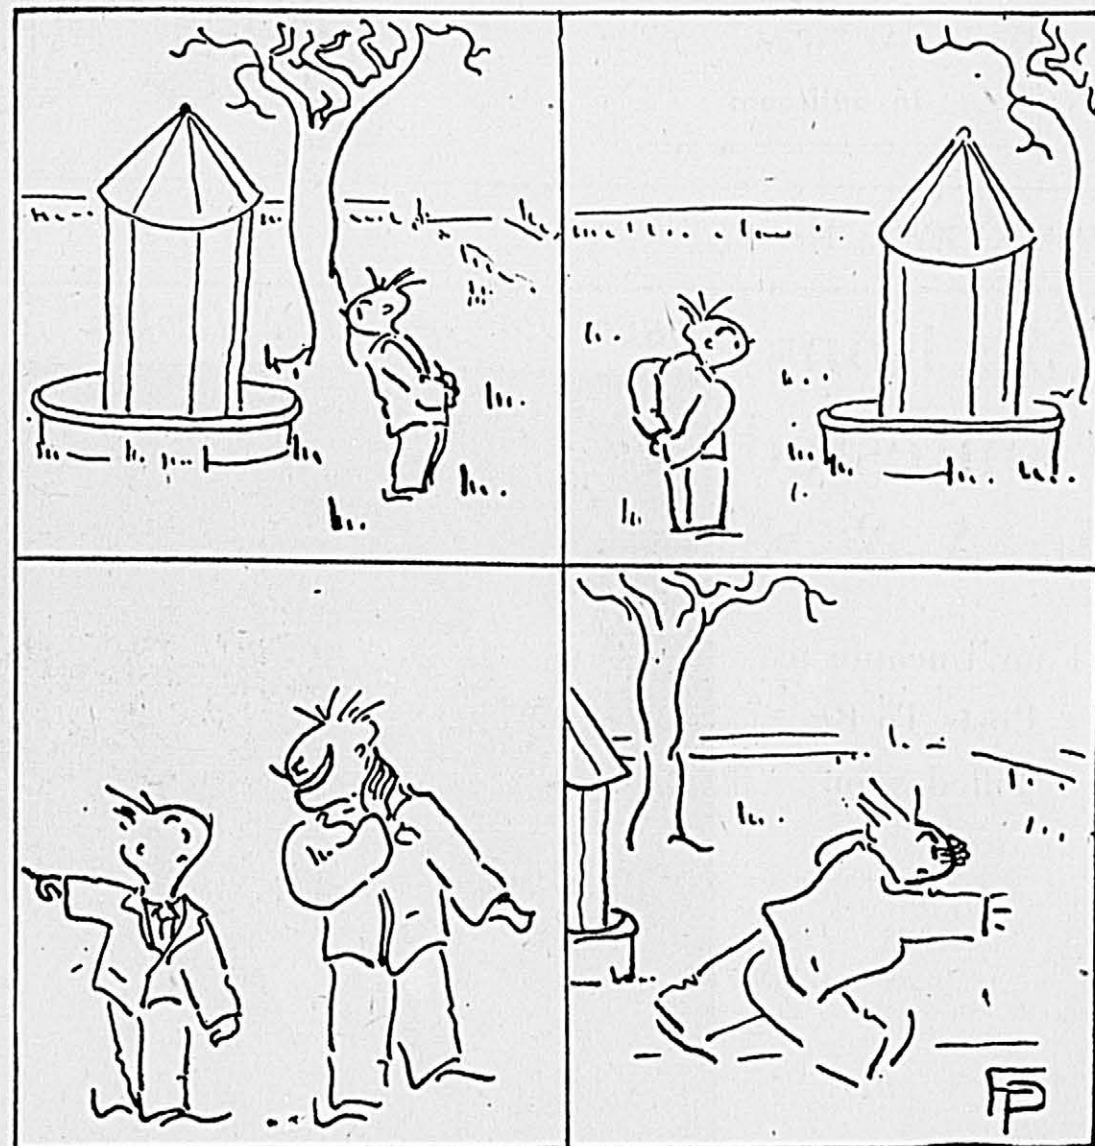

There was an argument between the factotum of this Victoria Avenue bistro and one of the customers; our friend, the unidentified student, call him 'the Champ', was dying to get into it—eventually he did. After feeling like an argument all evening he stood up and took a swing at the factotum; then a swing at the customer, everybody was visibly impressed. The manager felt the police should hear about this but when he telephoned the police were sorry, Saturday night we're awfully busy, but will try to call if we can—as it turned out they never could.

Elated by his triumph 'the Champ' decided to celebrate by putting a nickel in the music-machine. Accidentally he selected 'The March of the Toreadors' which unbeknown to him was a signal for the muscle man employed by this bistro to emerge from his waiter's disguise looking for the bull who was causing all the uproar. There was a mortal struggle to the crescendo of the March. Muscle-man whose cauliflower ears look like squashed tomatoes, pushed the Champ off stair number two, second floor landing. Our pale pallid with the blood-shot eyes parachuted down in his horse blanket sport's coat with Tomato Ears right behind him.

As he lunged for the locked front door with Tomato Ears after him it began to look as if 'the Champ' wasn't going to miss a thing. They struggled again, finally going down in a heap, Champ being the heap. Throughout it all the nickelodeon had been playing 'I love you for strictly physical reasons,' but now that Tomato Ears was pounding 'the Champ's' head against the heavy door somebody selected a nickel's worth of 'You'd be so nice to go home through.'

Our unidentified Champ had a lot on his mind, what with Tomato Ears sitting on his head. Moreover, Tomato Ears was breathing heavily, the hair on his chest rattled, there was plenty of wind in the sails of that square-rigger chest tattoo. Perhaps the Champ wasn't breathing very well because Tomato Ears had a leg crushing into the side of his neck to keep him from talking his way out of the joint.

For the next hour Tomato Ears sat this one out at the union wrestling wage, waiting for the police to arrive. The Champ groaned, moaned, and wished for something he'd never wished for before; to be rescued by the law. Finally (Continued on Page 4.)

The bidding was possibly a bit ambitious and when the tumult and the shouting died, South found himself with the problem of making seven Clubs. West made the very fine opening of the six of clubs and south won in the closed hand with the ten. He now laid down the Ace of hearts and continued a small heart which ruffed in dummy. He now led the deuce of spades which he ruffed in the hand, and led his last small heart. Whatever play West makes is im-material for declarer ruffed with the Ace of clubs and then returned to his hand by ruffing a second small spade. He now laid down the King of clubs extracting the remaining trumps, and then proceeded to run, his remaining high hearts, and all his remaining trump. When he leads the last trump he has the Queen-Three of diamonds left. Dummy has the King of spades and the Ace-nine of diamonds. West has the King-seven of diamonds and the Ace of spades and must make a discard. If he throws a diamond declarer throws the spade and makes the Ace and Queen of diamonds. If he throws the Ace of spades then declarer throws the small diamond and makes the King of spades and the Ace of diamonds.

Dawson Loses To Rocklands; Team Shows Inexperience

By REUB and BOB

Dawson's Senior MBL Red and Blue Dynamos certainly lacked dynamite in last evening's 42-28 loss against Moe Brenhouse's Rockland boys in a Golden Ball set-to at St. Johns. In the opening tilt of the doubleheader the powerful Y.M. H.A. squad beat the underdog Central "Y" team by a 61-46 count.

The only bright spot among Steve Armstrong's senior hopefuls was centre Jim Shea, who played most of the game. However, one man does not make a team, and it is very likely that Dawson will drop their senior entry in preference to two intermediate squads.

High scorer of the evening, Galipeau of Rockland who was good for five baskets, played a nice game with deadly accuracy on his long shots. Also good for Moe Brenhouse's Maroon and White cagers were Cegalowitz and Mickey McFall with eight and four points each.

SLOW START
Both teams started cautiously, feeling each other out for the first few minutes, as was shown by a 4-1 score after seven full minutes of play. Dawson opened with a tight bottle defence which the Rockland squad found very difficult to break. The Dawson quintet's shots on basket were very poor during the first half, missing up to excellent scoring opportunities. Both teams played hard, and it seemed as if Dawson might have a chance to pull ahead in the second half, to clinch the game. The shots on basket were impressive but at the beginning of the second half when the score was 18-13, the Rockland cagers killed all hopes of taking advantage of Dawson's poor display.

POOR SHOOTING
Dawson did not even sink 15 per cent of their lay-up shots and showed lack of experience and nervousness while handling the ball under both baskets. The boys will have to get into better condition and play more heady ball before they get anywhere in any loop. (Continued on Page 4)

Red Puckster Intermediates In New Loop

The last link in the McGill hockey farm system was added to the chain as the intermediates became activated through the formation of a new league. This loop will include Loyola as well as the Redmen from the local vicinity and three teams from Ottawa. The Capital city squads will hail from Ottawa University, St. Pats, and Carleton College.

BIG DAY
Tentative opening date for the new five club circuit is Tues. November 25 on the banks of the Rideau. The definite schedule has not as yet been drawn up, but the Bytowners have contracted the Ottawa Auditorium for six evenings when they will entertain the visiting Montrealers. These dates have been sent into the schedule committee and will be amalgamated into the official slate.

Local contests present no problem as all these will be held at the Loyola Arena. Home and home games will be the order of the season which means that each club will play eight times. As well as this octet of "crosshul" tilts, the Intermeds hit the rails on January 31 when they travel to Potsdam, New York, where they take on the pucksters from Clarkson Tech.

COACH HUTCHINS
Credit for the formation of the new loop should go to Ross Hutchins, hardworking coach of the Intermediates. Ross has been working his fingers to the bone in efforts to get his charges some action worthy of their time and trouble. Previous arrangements were unsatisfactory he felt, so he went about organizing the present set up.

Metras' Mustangs Meet Obeckmen at Stadium Saturday

By BOB BORNSTEIN

Johnny Metras' mighty supermen of the West head east on Friday to meet our willing, but winless McGill Redmen Saturday at Molson Stadium. That's right folks, its McGill against the Western Mustangs in their second clash of the season, and don't expect any mercy from the "Murderous Metrasmen" in the coming battle. The Mustangs are good and they know it. Its a blood-thirsty mob that will face the Obeckmen on the Molson Stadium turf. If you don't think the Red and White are in for a hot time, just gaze upon the scores the Western boys have rolled up so far.

ROARING ROCKY

IT ROCKY ROBILLARD plays the same type of game that he played against Varsity last week, Western will have plenty to worry about. Here's hoping that the Western tidal waves will break against the Rocky shores.

Grant to Give Instructions to Bird Bashers

Currie Gymnasium will be available for Mixed Badminton again this evening from 7.00 to 10.30, with all nine courts open for play. A fairly large and enthusiastic crowd of bird-bashers turned up for the first two nights and even larger numbers are expected out on succeeding Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays. There will, of course, be no Badminton this Saturday night as a football dance is scheduled to occupy Currie Gym.

CHAMP INSTRUCTORS
Doug Grant, former world professional champ, will be associated with the McGill Badminton Club again this year and will be present on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 8.00 to 10.00 to offer instruction to any interested students, beginner or otherwise. It is planned to set up a ladder for men players in the near future in an effort to stimulate competition and a number of informal mixed round-robin tournaments will probably be run off at a later date.

Gord Simpson Defends Title In Net Finals

By RICHARD ROPER

In the semi-finals of the Dawson Fall Tennis Tournament two days ago, Dave Sigler defeated Dave Schoch, 6-1, 6-4. Schoch beat Angel on Tuesday, 9-7, 10-8, and it was thought that he might take Sigler and advance into the finals against Gordie Simpson.

SIGLER STEADY
The highlights of the match Wednesday were the steady play of Sigler and Schoch's lack of confidence. Sigler gained his points largely through the errors of Schoch, and the numerous double-faults in Schoch's service marked this as one of his weakest points. He was making flat drives of a good length on both his back-hand and fore-hand, but only occasionally did he follow up to the net to meet and kill Sigler's return. The latter, although using a rather unorthodox service, was serving well and getting results, mainly because his opponent was trying to "hit the cover off the ball."

Simpson, Senior Provincial Singles and Doubles Badminton champion, who is also respected on the tennis court, met Sigler yesterday in the finals. He was out to watch the semi-finals and maintains he will not make Schoch's mistake of avoiding net play, in his effort to retain his summer title.

Sports and Shorts

DA BRUDDERS
First of all there are the McFarlane boys. Notwithstanding the fact that they're the top scorers in the Intercollegiate circuit and have led their team in every game, they haven't shown much. Who else have they on the roster? Why only fellows like George Arnott, O'Neil, Curtis, Waldon, and Jack Parry. Now take this guy Parry, when he's in the mood he might loaf his way to four touchdowns.

YEA MCGILL
McGill, of course, has some pretty good football players in Murray Hayes and "Rocky" Robillard, plus a host of other talented boys. They also have a great coach in Vic Obeck. Nevertheless, you can't get away from the greatness of this Western squad. This perfect blend of football talents is a culmination of ten years work on the part of Johnny Metras, and today his team is rated the best in Collegiate history.

This year Vic Obeck is undertaking a task very similar to the one which faced the Western coach ten years ago. We'll bet anything that Obeck molds a "Great Red Machine" in a much shorter period than that.

Well, there it is. The data on the Western Mustangs. Its impressive, we'll admit that, but don't forget that upsets do happen. Its not impossible for McGill to win, but highly improbable. Anyway, don't bet on it!

Swim Meet Goes to Fizzeds; Records Set

Phys. Eds have done it again. Track, which they took, is over. Yesterday afternoon the prospective gym-teachers took the Intramural Swimming Meet held at the Legion Pool. The final count had Dr. Lamb's "lamb" in the lead with 81 points. Science was second with 60 points, while the Arts representatives had a mere 34 markers.

The boys seem to have been out to break records yesterday (they don't appear to know about Petrillo's plan). John MacLean took the 50 and 100-yard back stroke events in new times. The old record for the 100-yard breast stroke went by the ropes at the hands of Bill Osterman, and Roy Norman took two seconds off the previous 50-yard time.

The first meeting of the Spanish Club will take place in the New Room of the Union at 8.00 p.m. tonight to elect a new Executive for the year and to discuss the future plans of the club.

Joyal, Ornstein Present Views On A-Control

Two different viewpoints on "The Control of Atomic Energy" were aired by Liberal and L.P.P. Club representatives at a Political Science Club meeting yesterday in the Union.

Bill Ornstein, President of the L.P.P. Club, started the discussion by outlining the United States' and the Soviet Union's respective proposals to the United Nations. He said that the United States' plan, which called for the establishment of an Atomic Energy Commission, does not state a definite time for the stopping of atomic armament production, and does away with the unanimity provision in the U.N. Charter. The Soviet proposal, on the other hand, asked for an International Convention and demanded the destruction of all atomic weapons by the end of a certain period of time, while not infringing on the U.N. Charter.

His party's stand, he stated, was that Canada should seek a compromise between the two plans but that it should not violate the U.N. Charter.

Marcel Joyal, as President of the Liberal Club, then presented his position with regard to Atomic Control. He said that in his opinion the only way to control the Atomic Bomb would be by the creation of a body which could apply retaliatory measures in case of infringement of its laws. This, he maintained, could only be done by the adoption of a realistic approach and this would, therefore, entail the abolition of the "Big Five" veto power.

He concluded by saying that he hoped that atomic power might prove to be the long range solution to the world's problems.

Two Dances To Be Held Next Saturday

Two dances in the Sir Arthur Curry Gym will climax the McGill home football series after the Western game this Saturday afternoon. Following an afternoon tea dance, the Arts and Science Fall Informal will begin at 8.30 and continue until midnight, with the Westerners supplying the music.

A representative of the Arts and Science Undergraduate Science pointed out yesterday that this would be the final dance of the football season for this year. The dance committee, it was stated, has worked hard to make this dance a real success, and, if possible, one of the best of the season.

On the bandstand for the evening will be the Westerners Orchestra, an aggregation of which many of the members are students of McGill. Barbara Dornbush, also a McGill student will be doing the vocals.

Members of the dance committee will be at work on the gym beforehand to make sure that it is suitably decorated for the occasion.

"The Arts and Science Undergrad Society is opening the doors to the entire campus," the committee representative said. "Everybody will be welcome on Saturday night." A special welcome, he added, is being extended to visitors from Western, many of whom are expected to come to Montreal for the game.

Tickets for the evening's entertainment will be obtainable only at the door of the gym, and will cost $1.25 per couple.

First General—P. 1

These and other plans have already been studied by the Executive Committee of N.F.C.U.S., thus paving the way for the general meeting today. An outline of these plans was made at a dinner meeting last Monday, at which some thirty-five campus organizations were represented. The Executive expressed the hope that a large turnout will assure effective student participation in the work of N.F.C.U.S. on the local campus.

Dawson Loses—P. 3

There is complete lack of co-ordination. Dawson, however, will still play in the Golden Ball tournament and gain experience in an attempt to take the Intermediate league. The senior MBL section is definitely too fast and classy for the Red and Blue, but the St. Johns boys will definitely be the team to watch in the intermediate loop.

Before we let you in on coming campus activities, we must correct an error. It has been drawn to our attention that the Nov. 4 edition of The Daily stated "THE MCGILL GLIDING CLUB will commence flying as soon as club members have taken out insurance to the satisfaction of the S.E.G. We have been informed that NO member need take out insurance unless he wants to.

Now to get down to the business at hand. The BRIDGE CLUB is holding its meeting on Thursday this week in the hope that more students will find it convenient to attend. You don't need to be an expert to play with us, so come on down tonight at 7.30.

You can run from the Bridge Club at 8 p.m. and arrive at the CHESS AND CHECKERS CLUB just in time for the Chess tournament (You must, of course, be a good runner).

The educational committee of the NEWMAN CLUB has decided not to hold its meeting of the study group today, but will hold it next Thursday instead.

The club (and of course we mean the L.P.P.) is holding a Marxist study group in the new room of the Union today. The subject to be discussed is "the recent developments in the United Nations Security Council."

The Rev. William Steeper will lead a Bible Study group on Friday, at 5, in the Student House, 3445 Peel St., sponsored by the MCGILL CHRISTIAN FELLOWSHIP. The topic will be "The themes of the Bible—Sin."

THE GERMAN CLUB is having a meeting next Monday in the Union Ballroom at 8 p.m. If you speak German too? You are cordially invited to come down and enjoy the songs, games, and refreshments.

McGill Chess Club to Open Play Tonight

The McGill Chess Club, dormant these past few years, is being revived. At a meeting held last week a tentative course of activities was laid out. This includes a round-robin tournament, the purpose of which is to establish a ladder from which players for outside matches will be chosen.

It was also decided that the name of the club will be the McGill Chess and Checkers Club, since the club is broadening its activities to include checkers also.

A slate of officers will not be elected for several weeks until members are well acquainted with each other. Since the club lacks any equipment the players were requested to bring their own sets, if possible.

Meetings will be held every Monday and Thursday at 8:00 p.m. in the Union Grill Room. The tournament will get under way at the club's meeting tonight.

However, it will be possible for anyone to enter the tournament next week by attending one of the club's meetings, leaving his name at the Union Tuck Shop, or communicating with L. F. Lawry, Wilson Hall, Tel. MA. 9181 Local 239.

MAAA Squash Courts To See Action Nov. 15

The M.A.A.A. squash team played host to the McGill Inter-Club representatives last night at 8:00 p.m. The McGillians led by Pete Landry and composed of men of the 'A' ladder were trimmed 9-0, in a fast-moving well matched series of games. Outstanding for the Redmen were Hampson and Dale who lost their matches 3-2 and 3-1 respectively.

The M.A.A.A. has announced that its Annual International Invitation Squash Tournament will be held on Nov. 15th, and it is said that squash enthusiasts will be able to see the best performers in American and Canadian squash circles on the M.A.A.A. courts.

NOTICE

Will all students who did not hand in their city addresses at registration, or have since changed their address, please get in touch with the assistant dean and the registrar immediately.

Dear Sir,— I was quite amazed by Mr. Beattie's letter concerning the famous election rally held at Dawson last Tuesday. Surely, Mr. Beattie does not expect the chairman of a meeting to function as a storm trooper in the quelling of a disturbance and the maintenance of discipline. No doubt, the major portion of Mr. Beattie's chagrin was due to his own inability to hold the audience.

Pea Shooters—Yet

Dear Mr. Editor,— As a co-ed who has wandered for many years unmolested over our ever-diminishing campus, I feel I am qualified to declaim against the odd behaviour of certain aspiring (?) engineers. No, I was not molested... I was harassed by some juvenile delinquents in the shape of engineering students while walking by the Engineering Building who with gay abandon, blew wildly through pea-shooters at me!

What were they trying to ascertain: volume of air displaced by the missiles—their velocity, or mine? Perhaps I shall never know. At any rate, Mr. Editor, I should like to warn those innocents who would stroll in view of the hideout of these playboys...

Yours with utter abandon,
DELLA DWANE.

Vet Elections Suggestions

5 Nov., '47.

Permit me to extend the following suggestions to the Executive of the Veterans' Society:

1. Have registration booths in the main university buildings for several days prior to the Society elections in order to permit the maximum number of student veterans to register in the Society.
2. Call for vets to help man the registration booths and to give other technical help to facilitate the registration and elections.

3. Announce in detail in The Daily where the various faculties may vote, in order to avoid overlapping.

4. Publish the programs, platforms and photographs of all candidates in The Daily, prior to the elections.

5. Have a membership meeting of the Veterans' Society one or two days before the elections are held in order to permit the candidates to discuss their platforms and answer questions.

6. Hold a referendum at the same time as the elections take place on whether or not the McGill vets want to have a Society quorum of 300 (or 250 or some similar figure).

I believe that by taking the above steps we can ensure that we will have a vets' society with a large active membership and with an executive that enjoys the confidence of the membership.

Yours very truly,
GIL ROSENBERG, Med. III.

NOTICE

The Executive Officers of student organizations are requested to comply with the following regulations concerning the posting of notices on the McGill campus:

1. All notices must first be brought and shown to Miss Cameron in the Registrar's Office, or to Dr. W. B. Ross if Miss Cameron is not available. When they are approved, they will be stamped with an official stamp.

The notices of any recognized University society, undergraduate or graduate, will be approved, but the University does not permit notices of outside organizations, no matter how worthy, to appear on our campus.

2. No notices may be attached to trees by nails. This is to protect the trees, and if nails are used the notices will be taken down. Notices may, however, be attached to trees by string, and streamers may be tied across the roadway if no nails are used. There have recently been several infractions of these rules and the Department of Buildings and Grounds has been instructed to take down any notices that do not comply with these regulations.
